Outpatient Abdominal Ultrasound Services for Your Patients

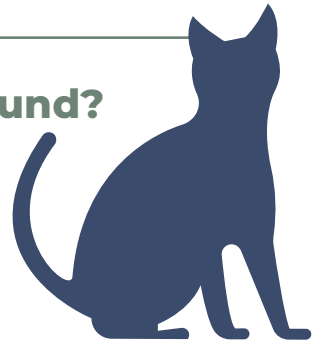

Portland Veterinary Emergency & Specialty Care is pleased to partner with you by offering outpatient abdominal ultrasounds performed by our Internal Medicine team. This service is designed to support your diagnostics while you maintain primary case management.

What Is an Outpatient Ultrasound?

An outpatient ultrasound is a focused imaging appointment only:

- Abdominal ultrasound performed by a PVESC Internal Medicine specialist
- No full internal medicine consultation or comprehensive physical examination will be performed
- Imaging report is sent directly back to you
- Your hospital retains the primary doctor–client–patient relationship
- Ideal for stable patients when you need advanced imaging to guide your ongoing work-up or treatment plan.
- Outpatient ultrasound cost: $495

When to Choose Outpatient Ultrasound (vs. an Internal Medicine Consultation)

Outpatient Ultrasound is typically appropriate when:

- You have a working diagnosis and need confirmation or staging
- You've already performed an initial work-up (lab work, radiographs, etc.)
- The patient is stable and you plan to continue managing the case
- You'd like rapid access to imaging and a written specialist report

Internal Medicine Consultation is typically appropriate when:

- The case is complex, chronic, or multi-systemic
- Diagnosis is unclear despite initial work-up
- You'd like a full exam and consult with the owner by an internist
- Long-term case management, additional diagnostics, or advanced therapies are anticipated
- A need for ultrasound guided sampling (i.e. fine needle aspirates) or sedation is anticipated

If you're unsure which option is best, our team is happy to help you decide.
